Often while you're playing, you'll come across a teacher or other students who will pose questions to your character.

Depending in your specific answer, the statistics of your character will have certain attributes raised; available attributes are "Courage", "Empathy", and "Knowledge", which are symbolized respectively with a green shield, a pink heart and a purple book.

Questions and answers play a pivotal role in this adventure! You can either choose to answer broadly so that makes your character evolve in a balanced way, or otherwise aim to be very consistent in your answers.

In which case you may find that your character gets extremely strong along certain lines at the expense of other attributes, to the point that certain conversational options may cease to be available during character interactions.
